Experiences

I have worked for the Turkish government for more than quarter century and realized many lands related projects in Turkey.

After retiring from the General Directorate of Land Registry and Cadastre in Turkey, I worked in the private sector.

During my private sector studies, I carried out various national and international survey projects. Thus, I gained my private sector experience as well and widened my professional spectrum.

Parallel to my practitioner engagements, I was also active in academic and research institutions.

I took part in three corners of the university - public - private sector cooperation systematic, which is also called the industry triangle.

I crowned this experience with the association experience I gained from HKMO and FIG activities.

What Can I Offer

In Support of FIG's Aims And Objectives?

Developing smart solutions for building strong partnerships within the global geospatial society and improving engagement among developed and developing member associations, academic and corporate members to overcome new emerging challenges and turn those challenges into opportunities.

We will work more closely with regional bodies such as CLGE, FIG ARN, FGF, AUS, UMG, Asia Pacific CBN, RICS, NSPS, CAGIS and Latin America Surveyors,

I and my colleagues will do our best to embrace the whole world by making FIG the “World Federation of Surveyors

We will make the necessary attempts to publish the peer-reviewed articles presented at FIG events as a "FIG Special Issue" in one of the journals covered by the WoS/SCOPUS indexes.

We will take the necessary initiatives to activate academic members and make them more productive within the FIG. Working with the Young Surveyors Network (YSN) to promote wider participation and to encourage and mentor the next generation of FIG leaders. We will continue to give special importance to the issue of Women in Surveying.

Strengthened engagement with international development agencies will be ensured.

“Crowned with association experience of HKMO and FIG activities”

“Actually; I describe myself as more than just a voluntary support member of FIG, a close-knit member”

My Motivation

I have been in FIG activities for more than 20 years on behalf of the Turkish Chamber of Surveying and Cadastre Engineers (HKMO) and the Turkish General Directorate of Land Registry and Cadastre.

During my relationships with FIG, I was deeply inspired by the collaborative outputs that led me to more enthusiastic, innovative and creative interactions.

I am conscious of FIG's vision and mission, which has led me to believe that I can contribute effectively and make some progress in activities around the world.

I am a people-oriented, a result-oriented, a share-based and a determined person. These are the 4 main characteristics of mine which lead me to success. Based on these characteristics, I look forward to achieve a proactive and engaged as well as a committed and dedicated leadership in FIG to reach to new horizons, collectively. Actually; I describe myself as more than just a voluntary support member of FIG, a close-knit member. This reality encourages me to take a more active and productive role within the FIG structure. I am deeply committed to contributing to FIG with my many years of experience, enthusiasm and energy, talent and knowledge.

As the president of FIG, my enthusiasm for progressive achievements will not be limited primarily to the globalization of FIG activities, but to ensure close communication, cooperation and knowledge transfer with member associations.
